Food Safety - Leftovers

Leftovers can be great snack, next day lunch, or even be used for a quick meal when you don't have time for meal planning. However it is still important to take precautions with leftovers and make sure you and your family are eating safe. Follow these handling tips so you can enjoy delicious and safe leftovers.

How Long Can I Keep Leftovers?

Leftovers can be kept in the refrigerator for 3 to 4 days or can be frozen for 2 to 6 months. Although safe indefinitely, frozen leftovers can lose moisture and flavor when stored for longer time in the freezer.

Refrigerating Leftovers

- Refrigerate food within 2 hours of cooking or being served. Food held at unsafe temperatures may become contaminated with harmful bacteria or toxins that are not destroyed when reheating. Discard any food left out longer than 2 hours.
- Cool foods properly. Size does matter! Separate into smaller portions and place in shallow pans. Food should put into containers should be no more than 3 inches deep or less to help proper cooling. Let your leftovers cool in the refrigerator. Store them on the top shelf and cover loosely to allow to cool, then once cooled cover them tightly.

Reheating Leftovers

- Reheat leftovers thoroughly to a temperature of 165°F or until hot and steamy. Bring soups, sauces, and gravies to a rolling boil.
- When using a Microwave for reheating leftovers, use a container that is safe for the microwave. Cover the food and rotate or mix to ensure the food is heated evenly.
- When reheating meat or poultry in the oven, the temperature should be no lower than 325°F.
- Reheating in slow cookers is not recommended. Because foods may be sitting for too long in the danger zone (40°F-140°F)

 HVES Meal Trays

These trays are microwave and oven safe and they are also recyclable, depending on your municipality. Meals from HVES can be refrigerated and should be done as soon as possible and at least within 2 hours after receiving. The meals can also be frozen and reheated when needed. If refrigerated they should be heated and eaten within 3 to 4 days. Frozen meals should be used within 1 to 3 months to ensure quality and flavor

If you are unsure about the quality of the leftovers then make sure to throw them away. Leftovers may help save time or help avoid cooking, but getting sick is not worth eating bad leftovers.

_When in doubt, throw it out!
